The Rules

Roulette is the game where you have to guess the winning number. There are 36 numbers on the table plus zero, total 37 numbers.

Roulette table has a wheel, with all the 37 numbers on it. The dealer spins the ball and the number in which the ball stops is the winning number.

You then have several options where to place your bets.

You can play on the numbers or on the outside fields.

On the numbers-

- you can place your bet directly on the number(straight up) and if you guessed the correct number, you win 35:1

- you can place your bet in between two numbers(split) and if either of two numbers is the winning number, you win 17:1

- you can place your bet on the crossing of four numbers(corner) and if one of the four numbers is the winning number, you win 8:1

- or you can place your bet on the double yellow line(street), and if one of the three numbers is the winning number, you win 11:1

- you can also play on six numbers at once, on the double yellow line(six line), and if one of the six numbers is the winning number, your winnings are 5:1

On the outside fields, the minimum bets are usually higher than on the number field, but you can play on 12 or 18 numbers at once. Columns and dozens allow you to play on 12 numbers, and if any of the 12 numbers is the winning number, you win 2:1. Should you like to play on 18 numbers simultaneously, you will notice that we have divided the 36 numbers into two-exactly half of the numbers are red, and the other half are black, half of the numbers are odd and half of the numbers are even, and you can have fun guessing whether the next number is going to be small (numbers from 1-18) or big (numbers from 19-36). You win 1:1 – this is also why these outside bets are also called even chances – you have a 50:50 chance to win.

You should also keep in mind that we have the '37th' number – zero. If zero comes up, all outside bets lose, because zero is neither red or black, even or odd, or small or big!

You can also play on the so called race track.

You will notice that all the numbers on this track are in the same exact order as on the wheel.

You can play on the neighbors, which means that if you place bet(5 chips) on any of the numbers on the track, the number that you put the bet(chips) on, plus two numbers on each side play just like they would if you had placed your bet(chips) directly on them on the number field(straight up). If any of these five numbers is the winning number, you win 35:1.

You can also try and guess on which part of the wheel the next winning number will be – then you can play the sectors. Bet (nine chips) on the biggest sector-voisins, bet (five chips) in the middle-orphelines and bet (six chips) on the last one-tier. The winnings range from 16 to 35, according to the position of the bet.

You can start placing your bets when the dealer calls out 'Please place your bets'. Then the dealer gives you a warning when you should finish and no more bets are allowed when the dealer has said so- 'Thank you no more bets'. After that the dealer spins the ball.
